News from the SAIMA committee...

New logo and motto competition

SAIMA is very pleased to unveil its new logo! We hope it is reflective of the essence of our organisation – health professionals from the Indian subcontinent who live and practice in South Australia.

We are inviting our members to create a motto that will accompany the logo.

The most outstanding motto will be awarded one FREE ticket to the SAIMA 2014 Gala dinner (valued at over $100). Entries close by the 3 March 2014. Please email your mottos to Tracey DiBartolo: tracey@amasa.org.au

Property Investment evening

Do you want to know how you can maximize your returns by investing in the property market? Come to SAIMA's property investment evening on Saturday March 1 and hear from real estate expert Peter Koulizos, a property investment lecturer from UniSA as he shares with you tips on how to make money by investing in property. This event is FREE for paid SAIMA members RSVP to tracey@amasa.org.au

SAIMA Cultural night

The committee is excited to host a cultural night that will showcase the talent of our SAIMA community. If you can sing, dance, play a musical instrument, perform a play – we want to see you! The cultural night is scheduled for August 2014 at the Norwood Town Hall to coincide with Indian Independence day celebrations. Please register your interest with our cultural secretary Raj Chakrabarty at adhirajc@gmail.com.

SAIMA Cricket

This year we are excited to announce two new SAIMA cricket events. Additional to our yearly clash with the PMASA, we will also be playing an internal SAIMA match (eg. Physicians v Surgeons, North v South etc) and a match against the Australian Medical Association. Start practicing and keep a look out for more updates!

Medical Students career expo

SAIMA will be hosting a career expo for its student members to inform students of various career pathways available to them. If you know any medical students that may be interested please contact student secretary Namit Mathur for more details.

Keep the following dates free:

Our Gala Dinner is booked for Saturday 21 June at the Adelaide Convention Centre. Please tell your friends and make this event a great success
